

Are you ready for Senate Bill 1383?

for edible food recovery specific requirements

PREPARE

Starting January 1, 2022, large commercial edible food generators are required to donate their excess edible food to food recovery organizations and/or food recovery services that would have otherwise been disposed.

COMPLY

Create contracts or written agreements with food recovery organizations and/or food recovery services to donate your business's excess edible food.

RECORDKEEPING

Maintain a copy of contracts or written agreements with food recovery organizations and/or food recovery services. Keep records of your food donation activities.

QUESTIONS?

Contact FoodDROPLA@pw.lacounty.gov or visit FoodDROPLA.com for more information.

Help feed the most vulnerable communities in Los Angeles while reducing methane emissions!

Save money by reducing waste and donating your excess edible food!

